DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
- 2. Claims 1-9 and 22-31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Caines.

The Applicant is referred to the description of Caines in the first office action, mailed 08/19/05.

3. Applicant's arguments filed 02/13/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The Applicant's arguments are directed to the "intended use" or "functional language" in the claims.

In regard to the recitation "each of said ACCOUNT cards representing one or more simulated depository for simulating the safekeeping of value obtained from the simulated sale of product" in claims 1 and 6, the Examiner takes the position that this is an "intended use" recitation. There is no physical or structural differences between Caines' cards Figs. 6A and 6B, and the claimed ACCOUNT cards. A recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. See In re Casey, 370 F.2d 576, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 312 F.2d 937, 939, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963). In this case, Caines' cards Figs.6A and 6B are capable of representing one or more simulated depository for simulating the safekeeping of value obtained from the simulated sale of product.

In regard to the recitation "each of said PROBLEM REMOVAL cards representing the removal of at least one simulated problem represented by at least one among said PROBLEM cards" in claims 1 and 6, again the Examiner takes the position that this is an "intended use" recitation. There is no physical or structural differences between Caines' cards Fig. 5C and the claimed PROBLEM REMOVAL cards. Caines' cards Fig. 5C are capable of representing the removal of at least one simulated problem represented by at least one among said PROBLEM cards.

Concerning the new claims 22-31, these claims introduce additional cards and only recite "intended use" limitations. The remaining cards of Caines, Figs. 5A –5D are capable of decreasing or increasing a player's score.

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
